This Week...

TX: 28 January at 1.25pm

We chat to funnyman Loyiso Gola about his inspiration for his one-man show 'Loyiso Gola for President', on at the market theatre.

The creators of the magazine Locally Whipped, Nick and Ryan tell 20something how they started the magazine and what it took to make it as successful as it is today. The magazine covers three topics – Alternative Sports, Social Lifestyle and Local Music.

We preview the movie "Jackass Number 2". The original creators and cast of the MTV series are back at it again (significantly raising the stakes and lowering the bar), this installment in the "Jackass" and "Jackass - The Movie" series unleashes a spirited mess of absurdity as the cast and crew gets even uglier around the globe.

Next Week...

TX: 4 February at 1pm

20something's Shashi Naidoo reviews the book 'Aids Safari' - written by a South African Adam Levin. Levin is HIV positive and this book is a memoir about his journey with the virus.

We chat to 2 Rasty and Faith 47 about the history of graffiti as an art form and find out how popular it has become in South Africa. 20something also looks at how they've come to make it proudly South African and what issues they each deal with in their work.

We preview the eight-times Oscar nominated (including nods for newcomer Hudson and the veteran Murphy in the Supporting Actor categories) musical "Dreamgirls". Effie White (Jennifer Hudson), Deena Jones (Beyonce Knowles), and Lorrell Robinson (Anika Noni Rose) – three friends from Chicago – are a promising singing trio called The Dreamettes. Accompanied by their songwriter and Effie's brother C.C., they travel to New York to compete in a talent show at the Apollo Theatre. Although the girls lose this first bid for fame, their talent attracts an ambitious manager by the name of Curtis Taylor, Jr. (Jamie Foxx), who uses unscrupulous tactics to move the girls from backup singers of superstar James "Thunder" Early (Eddie Murphy) to superstars of their own.
