3rd Degree: The Aftermath of the Jacob Zuma trial Tuesday May 9 @ 8pm

Jacob Zuma's brush with the law has deepened division within the ANC and cast doubt on whether he is still eligible to be South Africa's next president.

He still faces two counts of corruption and has been tried for allegedly raping an HIV positive family friend.

His supporters believe these charges are part of a plot to discredit him and rob him of the presidency.

But Zuma's testimony at his rape trial has exposed him as a man who has little knowledge of how HIV/Aids is spread and prevented.

This despite the fact that he has chaired the National Aids Council for several years.

He also emerged as a person who uses his culture to justify his disregard for women's rights.

The fact that Zuma took a shower to minimize his chances of contracting HIV made international headlines and turned him into a laughing stock.

This week, 3rd Degree brings you the aftermath of Zuma rape trial verdict.

He is a man who still has presidential ambitions despite his shortcomings.

Is there anyway Jacob Zuma could still lead South Africa.

3rd Degree, Tuesday, 9 May @ 8pm only on e!
