3rd Degree: Trapped in the Wrong body

TX: Tuesday 10 May 2011 at 9.30PM

19-year-old Revelation was born a boy, but always felt she was a girl. Tebogo was born female, but longed from an early age to be a boy. Both felt trapped in the wrong body. Both had no idea there was a way out.

A sex change operation is the only real option for those with Gender Identity Disorder, but it's costly. And for young people born in low income townships, access to medical help and finances is a struggle.

Despite this, Tebogo and Revelation have taken steps to become their true selves. Tebogo has already undergone surgery, and despite some setbacks, is determined to complete the process. He's dedicated his life to helping other transgender people in the townships

3rd Degree shines a light on a condition that families are too often ashamed to talk about.
