

PRESS RELEASE

Wednesday nights are 20something nights.

TX: Wednesday 11 June 2008, at 8pm

Nineteen seventy six revolutionized how the youth of South Africa view their place in the history of this nation and that dark part of our past will never be forgotten. 20something celebrates the youth and being young all the time, but this week celebrates the landmark that is Youth Day: June 16.

- 20something chats with new Hip-Hop kid, JR who hangs with us to share his success story.
- The show also gets up close and personal with some celebrities for your youth shout outs and take a blast back to the past.
- In true 20something style, the guys at the design centre in Greenside turn raw material into functional art.

“History is the only laboratory we have in which to test the consequences of thought.” – Etienne Gilson.

Lest we forget. 20something, Wednesday at 8pm.
