

Press Release

Pravesh becomes the latest casualty!

Last night, after competing in the adrenalin pumping boat-to-boat jump and the sickening drink or drown stunt, our 13 remaining contestants had to say cheers to another unlucky contestant as the competition keeps spitting them out one by one. "I am very happy with the end result and the outcome of the challenges last night. After being eliminated I was more happy rather than sad. I actually just wanted to go back home as I thought I did what I wanted and I was satisfied." These are the words of Pravesh Maharaj who sadly was eliminated from Fear Factor last night. A colourful character, Pravesh hails from Reservoir Hills in Durban.

Next week (Monday 13 Feb at 8pm): the contestants will face their most revolting edible stunt yet as they have to fish out chicken heads and feet in a disgusting mix of maggots and worms. Then, everyone steps up their game, as they have to work in two opposing teams to win an unforgettable night about town... Watch e.tv every Monday at 8pm to see fear taking its toll on the remaining 13 contestants. The R250 000 cash prize is sponsored by Insurance Services from Standard Bank.
