INSIDE OUT - Early Childhood Development

TX: Saturday 10 October 2009 at 9:30AM

From birth to the age of nine, children are most open to emotional and moral development. It is also the period within which language and other cognitive foundations are established. The major role players during this time are parents and teachers.

Are South African parents and teachers equipped to play such a major part in our children's formative years?

Join anchor, Pat Pillai for the Inside Out on Early Childhood Development, with studio guests, Prof. Eric Atmore from the Centre of Early Childhood Development as well as Sophie Makoena, Director of the Sithuthukile Trust.
