

PRESS RELEASE

Keep it real, with 20something
TX: Wednesday 2 April at 8pm

20something has found a new home, Wednesday at 8pm. The show still remain a high quality programme, which brings you entertainment, from the latest lifestyle trends to the hottest news in the biz. If you're a person who loves fun, then you'd better join Namhla Ndlovu and Kyle White as they host this popular youth magazine show every Wednesday evening.

TX: 2 April at 8pm

This week 20something goes behind the scene of the Sanlam fashion show to show the viewers the action, drama and the sheer hard work it takes to make on the runway. Check out hot fashion, hot models and hot trends.

Next-20something chats to the founder and director of Sanlam SA Fashion, Lucilla Booyzen who shares her perspective on the business of fashion and also gives the low down on the SA industry, its challenges and opportunities.

One of the main concerns in the fashion industry is the lack of beautifully designed fabric. 20something went all the way to learn some amazing and creative ways to do that, Namhla shows a sneak preview on what went down when she joined the workshop and got hands on.

Designer extraordinaire, Karen Ter Morshuizen showcases her exquisite collection especially for 20something and gives an insight into what inspires true design greatness.

The show plays out with a song called "The girl" from the funky Natalie Williams.
