Let's Fix It Tuesday 11 July at 8.30pm

In this episode of Let's Fix It, presenter Samm Marshall visits Kwa-Zulu Natal and meets Princess Sibiya , who is a hard working and eager youngster. She was a trainee journalist with a freebie newspaper, but due to financial cuts she is now unemployed. She dearly wants to be a journalist and is interested in political and legal journalism. The Let's Fix It team explores some options to see how they can help her.

They also meet a 14-year-old boy, Moses Langa, who is in Grade Six. His parents are poor and unemployed and cannot afford to buy his family food and clothes. He lives with six family members, and they are often forced to borrow food and money from neighbours. Let's Fix It brings some sunlight into this boy's life.
