

Press Release

Sundays are Fundays with 20something!

Sundays should be renamed to Fundays. What for you ask? Well, because 20something is reason enough. And with 20something hosts Namhla Ndlovu and Shashi Naidoo doubling up as advocates for this great cause don't miss out on their trendy youth magazine every Sunday around lunchtime, free on e.

25th June 2006 at 1:30

We hang out with a local Hip-Hop crew called the Clinch Crew. They are in studio to chat about their passion for Hip Hop and their plans of promoting and marketing hip-hop throughout Africa. They also chat about what they've done and where they see themselves going. One of the crew members is Craze presenter Lalla Cooper.

We review the book 'Pursuit of Significance' with rapper Obita. The book is about the extent to which people will go to find worth and value in their lives. The book focuses on what "worth and value" in ones life means and how one can obtain it.

We preview the movie "The White Countess". Set in Shanghai in the late 1930s, the movie tells a story of the relationship between a disillusioned former US diplomat and a refugee White Russian countess who have been reduced to a sordid life in the city's bars.

We remix things a bit this week as we close off with The Clinch Crew doing their dance moves while Obita rhymes on the mic.

02 July 2006 at 1.30pm

We speak to Kenneth Matabane about Debt Management. 20somethings nowadays have easy access to loans, credit cards and credit from clothing stores and a lot of them have no idea how to manage their income and the credit they've got properly, which leads a lot of people to have debt. Kenneth takes us through some steps that could help one alleviate the patterns that lead to and the debt itself.

It's not everyday that you go to the ballet and see black faces on stage but Kitty Phetla is one of the few faces that have help change the face of ballet in Mzansi. We chat to Kitty about her life as a ballerina, her achievements, projects she's worked on in the past as well as what she's working on presently.

The movie preview of the week is "16 Blocks". Jack Mosley (Bruce Willis) is a burnt-out detective assigned the unenviable task of transporting a fast-talking convict (Mos Def) from jail to a courthouse 16 blocks away. However, along the way he learns that the man is supposed to testify against Mosley's colleagues, and the entire NYPD wants him dead. Mosley must choose between loyalty to his colleagues and protecting the witness, and never has such a short distance seemed so long...

We play out with the artist formerly known as Puff Daddy – P.Diddy – with 'Been Around the World'.

For further information and pictures please contact:

Thabo Makeleni

e.tv Publicity Writer

Tel: 011 537 9399

Email: thabo.makeleni@etv.co.za