

Press Release

Cash is the name of the game as an old favourite returns... Lotto Live 'n Lucky, Wednesday, 19 July @ 9.35pm

It's time you got your lucky charms or your special lady luck out. However you call it we'll provide the games because the most exciting game show in town is back! Yes, as from Wednesday 19 July e.tv will be screening an old favourite: the Lotto Live 'n Lucky show in its traditional timeslot at 9.35pm just after the Wednesday live draw, completely with a new opening title sequence. But don't fret – your favourite hosts Nimrod Nkosi and Candy Litchfield still remain with the show. "We haven't really done away with the format and so the show itself has not changed," comments, Zanele Mthembu, e.tv's Executive Producer.

Only the shows opening graphics have changed as the shows producers wanted to liven up the opening sequence from last season. "The show is more than just about winning cash prizes which amount to thousands of rands, it's an opportunity for all South Africans to know each other better. It's about doing away with stereotypes and getting to know the real person. And we do this in a very entertaining and interesting way.

Another thing that's changed slightly is audience participation. The show will focus on current issues so everyone who takes part on the show will have to make sure they brush up on their general knowledge especially on current affairs. As an added bonus you as a viewer also stand a chance to win lots of cash!" says an excited Mthembu.
