HANG WITH US THIS WEEKEND Sunday @ 1.30pm

We hang with a star in the making, spin a couple of interesting cocktails and we look at happy endings ... it's another fun-filled episode on 20something, with your hosts Namhla Ndlovu and Khethiwe Kunene every Sunday at 1.30pm - free on e.

We still carry on with our heritage month theme and this week we interview the multi-talented and SAMA Award winning singing sensation Simphiwe Dana who at 25 produces music well beyond her years, to find out more about the woman behind the music.

Have you ever watched in awe as a barman at a club or bar takes the bottle and starts flipping it all around his or her body. Well you'll be surprised to know that this isn't just a fancy trick it's called flaring and it's actually serious business. So serious that they have got a flaring championship whereby bar tenders compete to be the champion cocktail flarer. We went down to the recent event held in Johannesburg to check-out what it's all about.

The movie preview of the week is "Happy Endings". Mamie (Lisa Kudrow) is being blackmailed. A filmmaker named Nick (Jesse Bradford) claims to know Mamie's son - whom she gave up for adoption - but Nick won't introduce her to him unless he can film the reunion. Enter Javier (Bobby Cannavale), Mamie's massage therapist boyfriend, who convinces Nick to film him instead. Now they're all making a movie about massage. And 'happy endings'... Mamie's stepbrother Charley (Steve Coogan) has a longtime boyfriend named Gil (David Sutcliffe). Their best friends, Pam and Diane (Laura Dern and Sarah Clarke), once tried using Gil as a donor in an effort to have a child. They claimed that this never worked, but Charley thinks these two are lying, as their two-year-old son looks exactly like Gil. And it's time to set the record straight...

They say her voice can shatter glass ... Her biggest comeback hit 'We Belong Together' is shattering many worldwide music records and charts, this week we play out with Mariah Carey.
