

Press Release

BE READY FOR SUMMER, WITH 20SOMETHING Sunday, 23 October @ 1.30pm

Summer is upon us and so 20something is coming on strong with the entertainment to counter those restless, long, lazy days... Namhla Ndlovu and Khethiwe Kunene are your hosts this summer as we rev things up every Sunday at 1.30pm, free on e.

On the fun couch this week is the editor of Hype magazine, Fungayi Kanyuchi, who is in studio to chat about his work on this South African based hip-hop magazine. He also chats about men's fashion and what we can expect to see men wearing this summer...

In our career insert we catch up with Zanele Zungu who is a rising star within the cooking business. As a chef, she chats to us about what it is one needs to do to become a successful chef in this rapidly growing career.

In our book review segment we visit Exclusive Books to find more about which South African authors we should look out for this summer.

Our music video for this week comes from R. Kelly with 'Trapped in the closet'. And to get things pumping, we visit Berlin in Melville as we go around Jozi looking for the best place to hang out in town in our club review.

We wrap up this week's entertainment with the preview of "Into the Blue" starring Paul Walker and Jessica Alba. This high-stakes thriller is set in the deep, shark-infested waters of the Bahamas. When a group of young divers discover the wreckage of a cargo plane at the bottom of the sea, they believe their dream of buried treasure has come true. What they don't realize is that millions of dollars of illegal goods are in that sunken plane and a group of dangerous criminals are already desperately searching for it. As tensions mount and the friends begin to fight about what to do with their find, others get closer to discovering their secret - and the treasure hunters quickly become the hunted.
