20SOMETHING PUTS FUN BACK INTO SUNDAYS Sunday, 07 August @ 1pm

This week 20something delves into the minds of documentary producers, chats up a fighter jet pilot and checks out some comic oddballs in this week's movie preview. Namhla Ndlovu and Khethiwe Kunene have the key to everything fun this Sunday @ 1pm - free on e.

Film production seems to be growing by the day in South Africa so this week we interview two female documentary directors Ngaire Blanckenberg & Beverley Palesa Ditsie who are in studio to chat about their work, which is currently being shown at the Encounters Film Festival to be held in Jo'burg and Cape Town.

We check out the making of "Stealth" a movie that highlights the life of a fighter jet test pilot to check out the trials and tribulations one is faced with when flying fighter jets. We also catch up with two South African pilots, one a commercial pilot and the other a fighter jet pilot to find out more about this interesting career.

The movie preview of the week is "The Honeymooners" which stars Cedric the Entertainer and Mike Epps. This is the story of two best friends, bus driver Ralph Kramden (Cedric the Entertainer) and sewer worker Ed Norton (Mike Epps), who hatch a get-rich-quick scheme to get out of Brooklyn and onto easy street. However, their plans are foiled along the way, resulting in some hilarious moments.

The music video this week comes from the angel-voiced Josh Groban who somehow always manages to give one goose bumps with 'You raise me up'.
