Stunt Stint: Madam & Eve Monday 17 October at 9pm

Eve becomes a stuntwoman in tonight's episode of Madam & Eve Stunt Stint. Only a few elite are invited to join the ranks of their fraternity. They must have impeccable agility, reflexes, balance and a strong work ethic. These are not easy criteria to fulfil. In fact, there is only one other career in South Africa that truly has these needs in common: The Domestic Worker.

After meeting Thulani Ndlovu, a stunt man who plays himself, Eve becomes a stuntwoman. She quickly rises to the top of her class and is ready to do her first major stunt. This doesn't sit well with Gwen. It is, after all, an incredibly dangerous profession. Her worrying only pushes Eve further away... And deeper into the very close-knit stunt community.

The show stars Tina Jaxa (Eve Sisulu), Val Donald Bell (Gwen Anderson, or Madam), Paddy Canavan (Edith Anderson, or mother), Joe Mafela (Sol the gardener) and Jennifer Steyn (Marge the neighbour).

MADAM & EVE - A SYMBOL OF RECONCILIATION

Madam & Eve reach out to each other - across the kitchen and the mop. With its characteristic warmth and humour, Madam & Eve is a path breaking and ultimately healing television show.

The cartoon strip has never been afraid to examine the fears, prejudices and foibles of white and black South Africans alike. As the famous sitcom All In The Family did in the 1970s in America, the Madam & Eve sitcom aims to show South Africans the absurdities of separateness.

Madam & Eve is, more than anything else, a comedy of hope. Its unique formula has brought attention and praise from around the world. When the first series aired, the BBC did a news story on the transition of 'South Africa's best loved cartoon strip' to screen.

They commented on how Madam & Eve tackles 'hot political issues', while still keeping audiences laughing. Of course, it's the reaction back home that counts - from kids to pensioners and across all race groups it has always been one of the most popular local programmes on e.tv.
