That Sport Show: Monday 1 August at 9.30pm

Krynauw Otto gives his views on the match against Australia, Irvin Khosa discusses the Charity cup and Stuart Baxter discusses the fallout with his assistant - these are the week's hot topics up for argument - and a bit of rational banter - on the most controversial (and live!) sports show ever to be screened on South African TV.

Every week, the sharp, clever and extremely forthright, Udo Carelse, hosts the show with his usual quirky humour and impressive expertise, provoking the viewer and studio guests into off-the-cuff opinions on current and highly contentious sports issues.

This week: We have former Springbok lock Krynauw Otto in studio to give us some professional analysis on the upcoming Tri-Nations test against the wallabies in Pretoria.

Irvin Khosa discusses the success of the Telkom Charity Cup and we pick his brain over the revenge Pirates inflicted on PSL champions Chiefs

And finally, something no football fan will want to miss. We have Bafana coach Stuart Baxter with us to give his account on the much publicized fallout with his assistant Steve Khompela at the Gold Cup in the USA

Never offside, never taking a dive and always ready for a brawl, That Sport Show. Every Monday at 9.30pm, only on e.
