THIRD WATCH V

Living on the edge is their job!

This Monday, 6 June at 8pm, join the tight-knit group of police, paramedics and firefighters who work the dangerous "third watch" in New York. From blazing infernos, emergency calls, car wrecks and crime scenes, the new season of Third Watch offers intense drama, gritty storylines and non-stop action.

The guys and girls of Third Watch are a mixed bunch. Dirty cops and good cops, dedicated firemen and arrogant daredevils, confident medical personnel and renegade individuals are all part of the same, highly-disciplined team. Their personal conflicts, friendships, love affairs and confrontations make for exciting, highly addictive viewing.

Again, we will be allowed into the lives of the brave and dedicated people who serve on the 'third watch' - the shift from 3pm to 11pm. The storyline picks up where the newly promoted Kim Zambrano (Raver) takes on the lead paramedic responsibilities previously shouldered by seasoned Monte "Doc" Parker (Beach), who has been promoted to an office position. Kim is assisted by cocky medic Carlos Nieto (Anthony Ruivivar). Firefighter Jimmy Doherty (Eddie Cibrian), Kim's ex-husband, still possesses the action-man heroism that contrasts with his freewheeling personal life while streetwise longtime cop John "Sully" Sullivan (Skipp Sudduth) battles alcoholism and the neverending stress of the job. Sully remains a mentor of sorts to headstrong Ty Davis Jr. (Coby Bell), the son of Sully's former partner who was killed in the line of duty. In order to have time during the day to help her 16-year-old sister raise a baby, newcomer Sasha Monroe (Nia Long) joins the third watch. And Maurice "Bosco" Boscorelli's (Jason Wiles) "supercop" mentality frequently gets him into trouble - most recently when his superior, elite Anti-crime Unit Sergeant Maritza Cruz (Tia Texada), had her cover as an FBI agent blown due to Bosco's meddling. Meanwhile, stalwart police officer Faith Yokas (Molly Price), along with her husband, Fred (Chris Bauer), raises two children, including teenage Emily (Bonnie Dennison).

Whether called to a domestic emergency or headline-making disaster, these unsung heroes are always first on the scene. Through all this human tragedy, they must try to create a sane existence and enjoy not only their lives, but also their work. Catch the Emmy award-winning series Third Watch V every Monday at 8pm - only on e!
